PROFESSOR YOUMIN XI

EXECUTIVE PRESIDENT, XI'AN JIAOTONG-LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY
PRO-VICE-CHANCELLOR, UNIVERSITY OF LIVERPOOL
PROFESSOR OF MANAGEMENT, XI'AN JIAOTONG UNIVERSITY

Graduation is not the end of learning but the beginning of venturing into the world.

Dickens once described the 19th century as “the best of times, the worst of times, the age of wisdom, the age of foolishness.” These words are just as relevant today. An array of disruptive technologies such as Artificial Intelligence (AI) has transformed the world into a digital, interconnected, and intelligent global village, fundamentally reshaping human behaviour and lifestyles, and consequently altering societal structures. While reaping immense benefits, humanity is simultaneously grappling with challenges characterised by uncertainty, ambiguity, complexity, changeability, and scarcity.

To be born in this era is a privilege, granting us the opportunity to view ourselves, organisations, society, and humanity from a global perspective, as well as providing greater chances to explore the world and participate in global competition. Yet, being born in this era also presents challenges, compelling us to confront unprecedented uncertainties, profound societal transformations, and demanding life decisions and risks.

I believe that your time at XJTLU—through learning, training, and growth—has instilled in you the responsibility of a global citizen, the courage to venture beyond borders, the foundation to embrace challenges, and the capability to take bold action.

As you step onto the grand stage of this vibrant world, remember our university motto: “Light and Wings”. Dare to pursue your dreams, and may we celebrate your happiness in life and success in your career!

PROFESSOR TIM JONES

Congratulations to you on your first day as a member of Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University alumni community.

We are very proud of you and hope that you have the opportunity to celebrate your achievements with your family and friends.

Attaining the right degree from the right university is essential if it is to count towards a successful future. Those of you graduating today have done both and I am sure that you will go on to achieve great things in your career.

I too am an alumnus of the University of Liverpool, having gained both my undergraduate degree and PhD here more than thirty years ago. I am very proud of how Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University has developed and progressed and I look forward to continuing this over the coming years.

Our very best wishes go to all our graduates. I hope you will keep in touch with both XJTLU and the University of Liverpool and let us know if there is anything we can do to help along the way.

For those of you who are graduating from XJTLU, I encourage you to think outside the box and leave your comfort zone, be open to different viewpoints, think critically, explore uncharted territories, and always chase your dreams.

PROFESSOR KONSTANTINOS PAPADIKIS

THE XJTLU GRADUATION CEREMONY

The UK tradition of graduation can be traced back over 800 years. It is an important rite of passage: for the majority of UK students it marks the transition from education to employment, a time of new opportunities and greater responsibilities.

In common with UK tradition, the XJTLU ceremony commences with a procession of senior officers and academic staff. After opening speeches by both the Executive President of XJTLU and the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Liverpool (UoL), each graduands are presented for their degrees. When their names are called, the graduands walk onto stage, where the XJTLU Executive President moves the tassels on their mortarboards from right to left. Afterwards, they are congratulated by the President of XJTLU and corresponding school representatives. At the end of the ceremony, the platform party processes out of the hall, followed by the new graduates.

Academic dress is very important to graduation ceremonies. Academic dress typically consists of a robe, a hood, and a hat with a tassel. At XJTLU, students graduating from bachelor degrees wear square academic hats called 'mortarboards', a traditional UK-style robe and a Chinese-style hood in one of six colours. The colours signify the XJTLU awards which the students receive: pink for Bachelor of Arts; blue for Bachelor of Engineering; gold for Bachelor of Economics; silver-grey for Bachelor of Management; copper for Bachelor of Science; pink for Master of Arts, Blue for Master of Science and red for PhD.

BACKGROUND MUSIC

PRELUDE TO THE XJTLU ANTHEM

The processional music accompanying the entrance of University leaders and faculty representatives is a variation based on the melody of XJTLU's anthem. The XJTLU Anthem Project was initiated and guided by Professor Youmin Xi, Executive President of XJTLU, and the song was collaboratively created by Mr. Yibin Yu from the Academy of Film and Creative Technology, together with a professional team, faculty members, and students. The variation is performed live at the ceremony by the XJTLU Symphony Orchestra, under the guidance of the XJTLU Arts Centre. It evokes richly imaginative and vivid scenes, carrying heartfelt wishes for the bright futures of our graduates.

EDDY FANG, PROFESSOR

DEAN, INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SCHOOL SUZHOU

Dear Members of the IBSS Class of 2026,

Today marks an important milestone in your academic journey. The moment you have been working towards has finally arrived — your graduation day.

Completion of a degree is more than the fulfilment of academic requirements; it represents sustained intellectual effort, disciplined inquiry, and personal transformation. Each lecture attended, each debate engaged in, each research question explored, and each dissertation completed has contributed to shaping the scholars and professionals you have become.

Over the course of your studies, you have learned not only to acquire knowledge, but to interrogate it. You have developed the ability to evaluate evidence critically, to engage constructively with diverse perspectives, and to apply theory to real-world challenges. These capacities — analytical rigour, intellectual independence, and ethical awareness — are the enduring value of higher education.

The environment you now enter is characterised by complexity, technological acceleration, and global interdependence. Certainty will often be limited; ambiguity will be common. Yet it is precisely in such conditions that thoughtful and well-prepared graduates are most needed. Your education has equipped you not simply with answers, but with the discipline to ask better questions.

Professional success will require adaptability and continued development. Personal fulfilment will require reflection and integrity. There will be moments of achievement and moments of difficulty. Approach both with perspective. Growth is rarely linear; it is cumulative and often quiet.

As you move forward — into organisations, institutions, enterprises, or further study — remember that you remain part of the IBSS academic community. The relationship between a university and its graduates does not conclude at graduation; it evolves over time.

You now join the community of IBSS alumni.

May you continue to think deeply, act responsibly, and contribute meaningfully.

Congratulations, Class of 2026. We are proud of your achievements and confident in the impact you will make.
