Abstract

Following the development strategy of the Xi Jinping New Era adopted at the 19th National Congress of the Chinese Communist Party, Suzhou Industrial Park may want to consider a new development strategy that is guided by the concept of green development, based on the interests of the Chinese people, and driven by innovation and reform as well as opening to the outside world. More specifically, this strategy could be articulated as a strategy of “one one two two.” The first “one” refers to green development, the second “one” means the happiness of the Chinese people, the first “two” is the two drivers of innovation and reform, and the second “two” is the two-way opening. As a result of implementing this strategy, the SIP is like to become a beautiful, liveable, harmonious, and sustainable green society. An industrial park based on processing will become a modern metropolis of innovation. Suzhou Industrial Park, SIP1, will become Suzhou Innovation Park, SIP2.
