

China's Reform and Opening at 40: Social Transition and the Governance Philosophy and Experience of the Communist Party of China

Huang Zongliang

Abstract

China's 40 years of reform and opening up have been regarded as a "miracle on earth". Reform and opening up has become the basic state policy unanimously recognized by the party and the outside. Over the past 40 years, China has transformed into a modern socialist country. A series of important governance concepts and important historical experiences are great historical achievements of Chinese Marxism that have contributed to the political civilization of the mankind.

Key Words

Reform and Opening Social Transition Communist Party of China Governing Philosophy
Governing Experience