

New Trends of International Relations and New Strategies of China's Diplomacy

Hongjun Yu

Abstract

As the profound changes are taking place in the global landscape, this report systematically reviews and analyzes the new trends of international relations and the new strategies of big-country diplomacy of China. This report suggests that, under the guidance of diplomatic ideology of Xi Jinping, China has been actively engaging in big-country diplomacy with Chinese wisdom and solution, advocating the building of a community with a shared future for mankind, creating more favorable external conditions for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, and making greater contributions to world peace and human progress.

Key Words

China International Relations Big-Country Diplomacy Community with a Shared Future for Mankind